1. Quale stile di project management?

TPM – Newtonian style	Issue	APM – Quantum style
Deliver on the planned result	My job, as a PM, is to:	Discover the desired result
Use the plan to drive results	The best way to do this is:	Use result to drive planning
Aim, aim, fire	My prefered approach is to:	Fire, then redirect the bullet
Keep tight control on the process	I always try to:	Keep the process loose
Establish stronger procedures and policies	When things start to slip out of control:	About leading
I correct the original baseline	When the project goes off course:	I correct what is possible
Taskmaster	I see me role as a:	Relationship manager
Gets it right the first time	A successful project:	Gets it right the last time

Reference: Doug DeCarlo "Extreme Project Management" – 2004